Food Riots and Bloodshed Predicted, --- Moyer

Fred Moyer Speaks for George Cruickshank and Denounces Aberhart's Proposals

Predicting food riots and bloodshed in sixty days if a Social Credit government was elected, Fred Moyer, Independent candidate for Drumheller, flayed the proposals of William Aberhart as ridiculous and unconstitutional. Though he had little use for the Communist party, he considered it would be preferable to give them a second choice vote rather than a Social Credit candidate, for the Communists cannot get sufficient representation to do any harm, even if they elected all their candidates, while Social Crediters elected to power would be a menace to the province of which many failed to realize the serious and menacing import.

Aberhart couldn't meet the first payroll of the civil servants; he would not be able to borrow from the banks; he could not collect from his supporters, as they hadn't the money, and the result would be chaotic. He was speaking in support of the Independent candidate, G. E. Cruickshank, who was elected in 1930.

Norman McAuley opened the meeting as chairman, and introduced Mr. Cruickshank, who stated he had not intended contesting the election but certain circumstances not in keeping with good business principles had developed which made him change his mind. He was not the nominee of any particular party, though it had been reported in the press he had been nominated by a number of supporters in Hillcrest.

Referring to a matter on which he had been severely criticized, viz., the securing of coal orders for the mines in the east end of the Pass, he stated that in March, he received telegrams from Hillcrest and Bellevue complaining that no orders were in sight, and the mines were doing very little work. It was pointed out to him that if something was not quickly done to secure work, about 600 people would be thrown on relief.

He had not taken action to save his own business in Hillcrest, as commonly reported, but to help the mining population. He interviewed the Minister of Trade and Industry, and a representative of the C.P.R. fuel department, and inside of ten days orders were given to those mines. He knew he could not interfere with orders placed with Coleman mines, but he knew it was his duty to take action in behalf of the other mines.

As a result of that, he believed a

The Worst Menace

(Alberta Labor News)

THERE is only one proposal before the people of Alberta at this election which definitely may be termed "a form of taxation which in all probability decreases purchasing power." That is how Major Douglas, the only man in the world who can speak authoritatively on any proposal that goes by the name of Social Credit, described the Aberhart proposals.

Decreased purchasing power means a lower standard of living. The people of Alberta cannot stand a lower standard of living, and it is inconceivable that they will with their eyes open vote to decrease their purchasing power.

The farmer and wage earner stand to lose most by the Aberhart scheme. It is definite that the "levy" will be made "in the same way that the gasoline tax is imposed and collected at the present time." That means that the consumer will pay a levy on everything he buys. It is a sales tax is the most unfair form of taxation that has been devised, because it hits hardest at the people who have the least ability to pay it.

Page thirty-seven of Mr. Aberhart's Social Credit Manual tells how this unfair sales tax will be collected: "If we give the farmer $24 for forty bushels of wheat, of which the government bonus is $4, when a $20 suit of clothes comes into Alberta, we would levy $4 on it so that the same ratio would be maintained."

Nothing could be plainer than that. It is the consumer who will pay. It is the farmer and wage earner who will suffer most because they are the producers. The producers must pay everything that is paid, including any free gift that is to be given to a great many people who do not need it.

The Aberhart scheme is a menace. No Alberta worker who values his political freedom and who is opposed to a lower standard of living can vote for it. The scheme is diametrically opposed to everything for which the Labor movement stands. In the opinion of every student of economics, including Major Douglas, it can only bring economic chaos and a worse condition of poverty and despair to our people.

How To Mark Your Ballot

MacNeil's Campaign Committee urges the electors of Rocky Mountain Constituency to mark their ballots with Figure 1 for MacNeil, as shown hereunder. To mark your ballot with a cross will cancel your vote. Be sure to use the figure 1. Use your own judgment for second, third and fourth choices. It is not compulsory to vote for more than one candidate, but in case your No. 1 choice fails to be elected, your second choice may receive the benefit of your vote.

Liberal candidate was placed in the field, otherwise an Independent might have been selected, but it wouldn't have been himself. Thirty years residence here in business life surely made him realize that the coal industry meant everything to this district, and he had fought truck competition by refusing to ship in any goods otherwise than by rail.

He had made a motion in the legislature that no further coal leases be granted, as there were sufficient mines to supply the demand. This resolution was passed. A citizen of this district asked him to secure a coal lease, but it couldn't be done in face of the legislature's ruling.

He had also advocated better equipment for the mine rescue car, and the establishment of sub-stations at each mine, in which the mining companies would possibly assist by the erection of small buildings to house the equipment. The Independent group has tried to get the government to make a more liberal administration of the Compensation Act, but when a committee was appointed to go into the whole matter the majority voted to leave it as it was. In regard to unemployment, he knew from investigation that it would be more profitable and beneficial if men were paid fair wages for which a fair day's work would be demanded, than housing them in relief camps, as

Schools Re-Open September 3rd

Summer Cleaning Completed and Buildings in Readiness Following Changes and Improvements

Central school has been improved by a commodious addition to the basement and the interior has been cleaned and painted in readiness for re-opening following the summer holidays. The class room held during the past year in the United church club room will be transferred to the lower part of the Knights of Pythias hall, and is considered an improvement for school work.

Cameron school has undergone a thorough interior renovation, and the smell of new paint and brightly glistening walls, and desks will greet the classes on Sept. 3. The only change in the schools staff is that Miss Margaret Allan takes the place of Miss Gwen Brown on the high school staff. A meeting of the trustees will be held next week to see that everything is in order for the re-opening, when the town will resume its usual activity following two months freedom from teaching and studying.

A meeting of the trustees will be held next week to see that everything is in order for the re-opening, when the town will resume its usual activity following two months freedom from teaching and studying.

Footballers Defeat Michel 3-2 League Closed

Joyce Scored 2 and Fred Brown 1---Cup Ties to Be Played

In their last league game of the season Coleman handed Michel a 3-2 defeat in a close-fought game at the local grounds on Saturday. As a result Michel have to wait on the outcome of the Fernie-Blairmore game to know if they finished in second place or third. Kimberley have already had the league sewed up for some time.

Coleman played brilliantly in the first half and it wasn't long before Brown and Joyce had given them a two-goal lead as a result of smart play. Taylor, the Michel custodian, was the busiest man on the field during the first half, as he stopped shots from all angles. Michel reduced the lead when Bartram broke away on the left wing and crossed the ball in front of goal to have Lynes score. Joyce got it three when he scored from a corner kick taken by W. Anderson. Anderson was a stand-out by the way he took the corner-kicks, the ball on every occasion dropping in the goal-mouth and two more goals would have resulted from his efforts, only luck saving the Michel goal.

Soon after the resumption of the second half Michel were used to come within a hair's breadth of Coleman kept up a steady attack. This time half of the field and were in the many occasions not to score. As the game neared the end play began to slacken and the final whistle saw Coleman walk off the field with a well-earned 3-2 victory.

Mussolini Rejects Proposals Of Powers For Peace Plan

Paris.—The three-power conference, seeking to avert an Italo-Ethiopian war, collapsed Sunday.

Premier Pierre Laval announced it "adjourned." Further negotiations will continue, the premier said, through diplomatic channels.

Collapse of the conference was announced officially a few hours after Premier Mussolini of Italy had returned an indifferent "no" to Franco-British proposals for partial Italian control of Ethiopia.

Simultaneously with the adjournment, announced by Laval in a communiqué, British conference said "there will be no more meetings until the League of Nations session at Geneva, Sept. 4."

The efforts of France and Great Britain to avert war collapsed, it was said authoritatively, because of Mussolini's refusal to abandon his plan for outright conquest of Ethiopia.

He rejected, too, British and French proposals to give Italy partial control of Ethiopia by placing Italian advisors in the Ethiopian administration. He Duce insisted, instead, on "a general political influence."

A spokesman said both Eden and Laval felt they had offered Mussolini the widest possibility for Italian economic developments in Ethiopia.

Premier Mussolini's reply to tentative Franco-British peace proposals, received after a 48-hour war, was called by both the French and British "most discouraging."

Laval met with Eden, Great Britain's minister for League of Nations affairs, and Baron Aloisi of Italy, late Sunday at the Quai d'Orsay for what was said to be a desperate attempt to save something from the wreckage.

French officials said Mussolini's reply dodged the two main issues arising from efforts to settle the bitter Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

It rejected the tentative Franco-British proposals without offering a substitute, they said, and it evaded Eden's request for a frank statement of what the Duce wants from Ethiopia.

B.C. Tourist Trade

Number Of Visitors To Coast Province Greater Than Last Year

Victoria.—An increased influx of tourist automobiles from other Canadian provinces to British Columbia brought 2,633 non-resident cars to the end of July this year, an increase of 150 over the total for the 12 months of 1934. The largest influx was from Alberta, with 1,942 cars, while from Saskatchewan there were 469, Manitoba 125, New Brunswick three, Nova Scotia four, Ontario 80, and Quebec 14.

Farm Trade Policy

Calgary.—A conference of provincial ministers of agriculture, after the federal election, to define a Canadian agricultural trade policy was advocated here by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario minister of agriculture.

Manitoba Durum Wheat

Winnipeg.—If, and when Italy's fighting men invade Ethiopia they will march on great manure. Early carloads of Manitoba durum wheat from which the Italians' favorite dish is made, are grading No. 1 amber, finest of the grades.

Radio Commission Regulation 90 Is Revised In New Form

Ottawa.—The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission's famous regulation 90 appeared in new form, redrafted to the satisfaction of Liberals and Conservatives and bearing the endorsement of the government. It has been a contentious issue between the two parties for a year or more.

As drafted originally by the commission, the regulation aroused a storm of protest by Liberal members. Its purpose was to prevent abusive, defamatory statements being broadcast, but it was worded so it was possible to interpret it as preventing anyone criticizing existing legislation.

The protests reached a peak in the house last June when Hon. Ernest

Aeroplane Crash

Wiley Post And Will Rogers Meet Death In Alaska

Point Barrow, Alaska.—Death, reaching through an Arctic fog, overtook Wiley Rogers, peerless comedian, and Wiley Post, master aviator, as the rebuilt aeroplane faltered and fell into an icy little river near this bleak outpost of civilization.

They had just taken off for a trifling 10-minute flight from their river position to Point Barrow. Sixty feet in the air the motor misfired. The plane heeled over on its right wing.

The lives of both were crushed out instantly as the impact drove the heavy motor back through the fuselage.

Dr. Henry W. Griest, medical missionary, said the rescue party removed, as it was torn and broken to fragments by the plunge.

"The bodies," he said, "were dressed by Charles D. Brower, the 'King of the Arctic,' whom Rogers was flying to see, Sgt. Stanley R. Morgan of the U.S. army signal corps, and myself.

A terrified Eskimo ran 15 miles to Point Barrow with the news of the crash of the flying vacationists. Morgan dashed to the scene, recovered the bodies and brought word of the tragedy that shocked the world.

For People To Decide

Says Government Should Not Precipitate Canada In War

Saskatoon.—No government should precipitate Canada into a foreign war "unless it was clear that the people of the Dominion understood the situation and approved the action," Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction party leader, said here.

At his meeting Mr. Stevens was asked his view of Canada's participation in a foreign war. "It is an unthinkable thing that Canada should be drawn into another war," he replied. He added that it was hoped British statesmen who had been so successful in the past would succeed in averting any such catastrophe.

Two Killed By Lightning

Men Working In Fields During Storm In Alberta

Edmonton.—Second victim of lightning in Alberta in one week. John MacCalla, 28, was killed during a storm near Marwayne. A lightning bolt passed through the top of his head.

John Humenuk, 44, a farmer of the Mycham district, was killed as he worked in a field. He, too, was struck in the head. A four-hour team he was driving met instant death.

Alberta Had Snow Storm

Edmonton.—One Edmonton home was struck by lightning, hail battered crops in the Millet district, snow fell at Pouce Coups and Hudson Hope in the north and rain descended in torrents throughout central and northern Alberta districts as thunderstorms roared over a wide area one day last week.

May Restrict Credits

Italy's Debt To British Exporters Reaches Large Sum

London.—British exporters hinted at a move to refuse further credits to Italy because of delayed payments believed caused by the expense of military preparations.

It was reported in financial circles that Italy's debt to British exporters is now £20,000,000 sterling (about $10,000,000), and the creditors may lead manufacturers in the curb of further credit.

Many exporters, especially coal shippers, have already shut down on sales to Italy until past payments are made, and this has shunted the Italian demand to Germany.

A proposal that British liberalize control of colonies, advanced by the News Chronicle in an editorial, is regarded as the most daring suggestion yet made in the Ethiopian crisis.

The Italian press "puts the question fairly," the paper says, in asking whether Britain is willing to join in a redistribution of colonial empires.

"The dominions are independent nations and can speak for themselves," says the editorial, "but what is Britain going to do about the empty spaces in her colonial empire? If we are going to put a fence around them to keep them for our own exploitation, we shall be faced sooner or later with war—a war in which we shall not have the right on our side."

Late Will Rogers Said To Be Worth At Least $5,500,000

Hollywood.—Will Rogers died wealthy—worth at least $5,500,000—and beloved by his associates in the motion picture capital.

A bar against flying by film actors and indefinite delay in release of two new pictures starring Rogers were seen as immediate effects of the Alaska plane accident which killed the rope-throwing philosopher and Pilot Wiley Post.

No one here was more profoundly shocked than Fred Stone, the stage and screen actor, and He and Rogers were a sort of Damon-and-Pythias combination of the entertainment world.

"Rogers death is a national calamity," Stone said. "He was a man who calmed fears or raised hopes with a word."

Winter Feed Policy

Federal Government Will Continue It For Another Winter

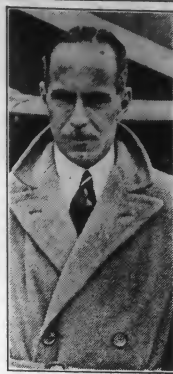

Ottawa.—To encourage winter feeding of young cattle and lambs, the Dominion will continue for another winter season its feeder policy which was started last year, it was announced by Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir.

To be effective until Dec. 31, the Dominion will provide one-way transportation and freighting expenses to any Canadian farmer purchasing one or more carloads of young feeder cattle or lambs according to conditions laid down by the agricultural department.

Captain T. Campbell Black, co-winner with Scott of the England-Australia Air Derby, has hopped off from Hatfield Aerodrome, England, on an attempted record flight to Cape Town and back. If successful, he will seek other records.

Italy's Demand

Settlement Of Dispute Is Occupation Of Ethiopia By Italian Army

Paris.—Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation to the tri-power conference, informed the British representative, Anthony Eden, that Italy's minimum demand for peaceful settlement of her dispute with Ethiopia was occupation of Ethiopia by the Italian army.

Aloisi said Premier Mussolini would require this condition in order to provide for the enforcement of economic privileges.

Italy, he said, would not be able to accept the British plan for economic concessions in Ethiopia unless Italy could make Ethiopia respect them. This, he said, would mean Italy must keep armed forces in the east African country.

Aloisi was induced to call on Eden, it was learned, by Premier Laval after the Italian had refused to visit the British diplomat separately on the eve of the scheduled conference between delegates of the French, Italian and British governments.

After the meeting between the two, it was said in informed quarters their positions were as "irreconcilable" as before the meeting.

Shadow Of War

Insurance Rates Against War Up By 100 Per Cent.

London.—A big run of applicants for African war insurance sent the carrying charge for that risk up almost to 100 per cent.

The opinion prevailed in informed circles that this reflected European-wide gloom about the chance of preventing war in Ethiopia.

Lloyd's underwriters quoted the allegedly prohibitive rate of 99 per cent. for insuring against an outbreak of hostilities before the end of the year.

British and foreign military officials here said war between Italy and Ethiopia is likely to break out between the first and third week of September, should diplomatic efforts fail.

ETHIOPIAN ARMY GOES MODERN

If and when Italy invades Ethiopia, the Italian soldiers will be faced by warriors who no longer use the weapons of their forefathers. Although one of the last nations to discard the old-type weapons, the Ethiopian soldiers to-day use implements of modern warfare. Above is a native soldier in the act of operating a trench mortar during manoeuvres at Addis Ababa.

Water Development

Farmers Of Drouth Areas Show Great Interest In Plan

Ottawa.—Farmers and ranchers throughout the drouth area of the prairie provinces are showing keen interest in the water development committee which has been organized as part of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, according to Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, here. The minister has returned from a trip to Western Canada.

"The problem of supplying a more adequate and dependable water supply to farmers is a vital one on many farms and ranches," said Mr. Weir. "The demand for the assistance is evident by the fact that since the general program was first announced only a few months ago over 4,600 individuals have made application, either directly or through their municipalities or organizations. Applications are at present pouring into the office of the water development committee at Swift Current at an average rate of over 47 a day."

"Of the total applications received to date, nearly 350 are from Manitoba, over 2,800 from Saskatchewan, and somewhere around 1,400 from Alberta."

"Field work was started little more than three weeks ago with four field engineers and their helpers. Since then the field staff has been enlarged to 21 engineers, including field engineers and their assistants."

Would Stabilize Rouble

Soviet Trying To Give It Fixed Purchasing Value

Moscow.—The Soviet government has set its shoulders to the task of giving its freak rouble a fixed purchasing value. To accomplish this it must make alterations that pierce to the roots of its economic structure, a process which cannot be completed in weeks, or even months.

First of all there must be a workable balance between wages and prices on the general market, at present far out of proportion. The government is attacking the problem on one hand and lowering prices on the other.

The average factory worker has a salary of 150 roubles a month. The proportion, if he were obliged to buy in the open market, would be the same as if a man making $150 a month in New America had to pay $12 a pound for butter and $3 a loaf for bread.

Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird Sent To America

Southampton, Eng.—Sir Malcolm Campbell's mighty Bluebird, racing car with which he will make new assaults on the land speed record next month, was shipped to the United States aboard the Aquitania. One of Sir Malcolm's mechanics went along with the huge machine.

Sir Malcolm himself and his other mechanics will leave for New York this week.

Fewer On Relief

Winnipeg.—Nearly 500 fewer families were on relief here Aug. 3 than on the same date last year, reports showed. The number of families listed on that date was 5,980, compared with 6,480 last year.

Predicts Increase In Wheat Prices Due To World Shortage

Montreal.—An increase in world wheat prices due to poor grain conditions in the Argentine was predicted here by Hon. R. L. Butler, premier of South Australia, on his arrival in Montreal on the Empress of Britain boat train from Quebec.

On his way back to Australia from London, where he attended meetings of the Empire Parliamentary Association, Premier Butler expressed interest in Canada's wheat crop, stating "this country would probably get rid of its grain hold-over as it would undoubtedly be needed in the world."

"I can see," he said, "a general rise in price throughout the world owing to the Argentine situation."

Edmonton.—The "calamity of rust" which has taken its toll of millions of acres of rich wheat lands in Manitoba and Saskatchewan can never happen again, believes Major H. G. L. Strange, chief of a Winnipeg grain research bureau.

Rust resistant wheat, he declared here while en route north during an inspection tour, will eliminate the "red rust menace" from the prairies.

Rust resistant wheat has been perfected in Manitoba research laboratories, and the seed will be ready for the entire devastated area in Manitoba and Saskatchewan within two years time, he declared.

The rust infection, he said, blew into the Saskatchewan and Manitoba districts from Mexico on the wings of prevailing southerly winds.

This year, he added, everything was perfect for rust—the crop two weeks behind time, wet weather and strong rust-bearing winds.

Major Strange, who is directing governmental and grain farms in a crop testing plan designed to make all Canadian wheat grade No. 1 Northern, estimates the rust loss this year will aggregate 5,000,000 acres.

West Uses Siamese Rice

Sales In Western Canada Increased As Result Of World's Grain Show

Montreal.—In Montreal on a business trip which will take him to England and Europe and possibly to Siam, Capt. A. J. M. Watson-Armstrong, consul-general in Vancouver, said trade between Canada and Siam is showing an encouraging increase.

More Siamese rice is used in western Canada than from all other countries combined, he said. This trade has been largely created within the past two years and is mainly the result of Siam's success at the World Grain Conference and Show held in Regina in 1933. At the exhibition Siamese rice swept the boards against entries of all other countries, taking three first prizes and 11 of a total of 20 prizes in the rice classes.

Arrival Of Steamship Wentworth At Churchill Opens Season

Churchill, Man.—Floodlights illuminated the northern port as the arrival of the steamship Wentworth went on apace.

It is expected the ship, which opened the northern navigation season, will have completed unloading and loading by the middle of the week and be ready to sail for Europe.

Up and down the quay in the shadow of the giant terminal elevator, teams, trucks and donkey engines worked the Wentworth's 2,200-ton cargo.

A banquet was given by the Churchill Board of Trade in honor of Captain Graves.

Heavy Damage From Fire

Victoria, B.C.—Fire in a sawdust pile had done $20,000 damage and was brought under control. Five dwellings have been destroyed. Flames broke out in the sawdust pile which has been smouldering for more than a year on the former site of the Shawington Lake Lumber Co., 25 miles north of here. The mill was destroyed a year ago by fire.

Conditions there have been very bad." Discussing South Australian wheat, the prime minister said his country is now selling one-third of her crop to Japan and the market there was expected to increase shortly.

Premier Butler mildly criticized the Ottawa "empire agreements."

"They are written agreements," he declared, "and pacts put down in black and white cannot work out satisfactorily in these days of ever-changing economic conditions."

He said he preferred "agreements" written constitutionally and "able to change things as conditions warrant."

mon problems, not make a set speech.
Mr. Cruickshank had been his desk mate for five years, and he commended him to the voters of Rocky Mountain.
The only thing was that Mr. Cruickshank had not blown his own horn, but had done a lot of effective work for his constituents. What had Mr. Howson done for his own riding in Edmonton? Not one thing in five years, and he would challenge any man to prove he had.

Turning to Social Credit, and Aber-hart's cure-all policy, what would happen if his supporters should command a majority and try to govern. First, they had no plan. His recent speech in Edmonton clearly stated that he could not form a plan till he had the facts, as he wanted a government favorable to his proposals before he could make a plan.

Second, he said there must be a housecleaning before they can get the facts. He also stated it would take 18 months before he could put a plan into force. But what was going to happen to Alberta in the meantime.
It had been Aberhart's pastime to kick the "Fifty Big Shots" so to speak, and could be obtained there, and Aberhart could not tax them, as they lived anywhere but in Alberta.

His tirade against them was all boloney, and they didn't care what Mr.
Aberhart said. He had also said he would lend money without interest, which meant putting the banks out of business. If Aberhart came into power on August 22, and had no plan, he would be unable to meet the running expenses of government, as he would not be able to borrow, and provincial revenues are at their lowest point at this time of the year. Hon. George Hoodley went east to raise one and a half millions, offering 6 per cent bonds, and couldn't get a purchaser in the face of the Social Credit threat. The Dominion government would certainly not allow any provincial government to play around with the currency, and did people think post offices would receive N. N. certificates for the purchase of money orders?

This year there is owing to the Dominion government $18,350,000 in treasury notes maturing. What is Mr.
Aberhart going to do about meeting this principal and interest? He just cannot get the money.

He defied him to explain how he (Aberhart) could finance on such proposals as he had made in his manual and in his meetings. The bankers would not be double-crossed, even if Mr. Aberhart tried to double-cross the electors.

The menace of the stoppage of credit would result in bankruptcy in sixty days, and a commission would be placed in charge to administer the province the same as in government at sixty days we would have food riots and bloodshed. It was the greatest menace the province had known. The people should realize it before it is too late.

Concerning the formation of a government after elections, it was probable a Union government would have to be formed, and therefore the Independents would have representation, for their influence would be sought by every other group. In fact the Independents would occupy the "golden chair" in the next house.

Referring to relief camps, he stated that investigation had shown that 63 times the amount of work could be done for the same cost as was now paid through relief camps, if the work was let by private contracts. He illustrated this by stating three men had moved three wheelbarrows of earth in half a day, at a cost of 48c
each per hour.

The depression could never be cured by just keeping men alive. The little extra that wage-earners get above the bare necessities of life to make prosperity. There is a flood of work to be done in the west, and it should be com-

He urged the electors to support Mr.
Cruickshank, for he would be a good member of the Independent group. He (the speaker) felt assured he would receive two votes for every one the official Liberal candidate would receive in his own constituency of Drumheller, and he was not worrying about his own election.

Mr. McAuley, chairman, thanked the speakers for their addresses, and the meeting closed with the national anthem.

COMMUNISM AND MODERN CAPITALISM

Communism and Modernism in Capitalism have this in common. Both seek a higher standard of living for the masses of mankind. But they differ sharply as to how this desired goal of all known comforts and some luxuries for all, shall be attained.
Communism advocates the immediate violent overthrow of old style capitalistic regimes. Modernism claims this method is productive of much injustice and harm and does not yield adequate rewards for its losses. This is why the American government and the Federation of Labor from upon the avowed determination of the 7th Internationale in Moscow to organize the American workers against the bourgeoisie. Investigation would appear to be in order to see how much the Soviet government is behind this move as they have given us their pledged word not to undermine our form of government. It would seem an impolitic move for the Soviets to antagonize Americans now when they have just had a bit more favorable feeling toward her because of her recent more favorable attitude toward the individual and home life.

Communism considers the raw deal which is the portion of many people as a call to battle. Modern Capitalism sees it as "a problem in social engineering."—J. E. P.

of this advertisement are distributed to impress on Advertisers the undisputed advantages of legitimate newspaper advertising.

AS CLOTHES add to man's appearance, so does Good Typography and Clean-cut Printing create the best impression above all other substitutes for newspaper advertising.

THAT'S WHY manufacturers of nationally-known products choose the highest-priced advertising mediums; knowing they are the most effective business builders, from figures based on tabulated results, covering the Dominion.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED is one of Canada's largest corporations which recently carried an advertising campaign in the daily and weekly newspapers of Canada, extending over two months, costing many thousands of dollars. Many other corporations in similar manner.

NEWSPAPERS ARE CHOSEN because their news service makes them valuable as efficient advertising mediums. Advertisers like to be in important company. Coleman's LEADING MERCHANTS are The Journal's Leading Advertisers. Every enterprising local retailer is also an advertiser in this paper, because he appreciates the Value-giving and Community Service which a real newspaper continually gives.

WORTH-WHILE NEWSPAPER is an asset to a town, as a news disseminator and an efficient advertising medium based on a policy of fair prices, honest service and community interest. To be among its advertisers is an indication that as a local tradesman you are loyal to your own community as a business-builder and a worth-while citizen.

THE JOURNAL is unquestionably and positively supreme in its field of activity. People eagerly look for its weekly visit, bringing in interesting and attractive style the worth-while local news and advertising messages.

Mrs. Geo. Kellock and son Jim returned last week after spending a few weeks vacation at the coast.

Mrs. Houghton and daughter, Hilda, returned on Sunday from several weeks holidays in New York.

Colemanites leaving this weekend for the coast are Mrs. John Atkinson, Mrs. Caroe, Mrs. D. Gillespie, May Phillips, Mrs. W. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ireland, and Billy Carr.

Deputy returning officers for Coleman appointed for the Dominion elections in October are R. F. Barnes, M. W. Cooke, Walter Bobbitt and another not named.

Mr. A. I. Brander, accompanied by Miss Eldon Brander motored to Coleman on Friday and on their return will be accompanied by Mr. Wm. Currie-Lethbridge Herald.

Mr. Low, the Warner candidate, said a candidate should never promise anything until we have paid for what we have promised in the past. He said that Mr. Aberhart had never promised a Social Credit dividend of $25 a month, nor did he. Mr. Low, promise it. Dividends would be very small at the start, and it would be considerable time before the system would be put into effect.

Harvey Murphy, Communist candidate, held a second opening meeting here on Thursday evening, which was addressed by Tom Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, and Rock Sudworth, Communist candidate in the 1930 election. Enoch Williams was chairman. Tom Uphill said man had lived through the worse ages, the bone age, and now was living in the bonehead age. Mr. Murphy's address was along familiar lines to that fully reported in The Journal two weeks ago, for which he expressed his thanks.

A. M. Morrison, J. E. Gillis, C. J. Tompkins, H. T. Halliwell, Adam McLintock and John Pratt went to the little school house at Burnis on Monday evening at the instigation of Donald J. MacNeil, and a very pleasant time was had by all, including the speakers. One gentleman quizzed the proceedings by asking questions on everything in Canadian politics from Confederation to the present day, on provincial matters from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and then in quite friendly mood drove home with the speakers. J. E. Gillis was the principal speaker in his usual entertaining and forceful style, and Alex Morrison was chairman.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED EMPLOYEES IN ALBERTA HOLD 21,849 SHARES

Distribution of 208,528 shares of Imperial Oil Ltd. with a market value exceeding $4,000,000 has been made within the past few days to 3,857 of the company's employees in Canada. Some of these shares went into practically every community in the country and a list of the occupations of the employees who received them would be almost endless.

In Manitoba 3,468 shares were distributed, in Saskatchewan 13,170, and in Alberta 21,849. The employees acquired this stock over a period of three years through the company's Fourth Co-operative Investment Trust. Due to the company's contribution and appreciation in the value of the stock the employees actually paid only about $1,600,000. G. Harrison Smith, president of Imperial Oil, commenting on this distribution, said that years ago the shareholders had speculated on Canada's future by investing millions of dollars in equipment to serve consumers everywhere in Canada. As business developed the importance of maintaining a personal touch with the consumer and of promoting industry and enterprise became increasingly evident and so the plan of making employees part owners of the business was devised. "It is part of a general plan relating to proper and just treatment of labor," Mr. Smith said, "and is based not only on the belief that labor is entitled to good treatment but on the knowledge that efficient and economical operation of an industry depends upon a loyal and enthusiastic personnel. In most cases," he said, "when you deal with an employee of Imperial Oil you are dealing with a part owner of the company. Of 55,000 Canadian shareholders in the company, more than 5,000 are employees."

COAL PRODUCTION

Alberta coal production for the present year to the end of June was 2,241,524 tons, compared with 2,018,115 tons for the same period of 1934, showing an increase of 323,409 tons.

England's Letter Post System

Was Started 300 Years Ago By Charles First

There was a letter post system in England 300 years ago and the proof of it is a document now being specially exhibited at the British Museum.

It is a proclamation issued by Charles I. to one Thomas Withering, authorizing him to "settle a running post" between London and the principal towns in the most important counties.

This document states Withering is to provide messengers to ride between London and the towns set forth, who "must return within five days." They are to collect letters left at post-houses along the various routes, and to "take them as near as possible they can" to their destination.

It was to cost twopence to send a letter under 80 miles, fourpence between 80 and 140 miles, and fivepence over 140 miles, while the charge to Scotland was eightpence.

New York Lawyer Will Not Keep Within Safety Lines

Aaron Greenspan of New York City considers himself a good swimmer and a good lawyer. Arrested for violating an ordinance by bathing beyond the safety lines at Rockaway Beach he undertook his own defense. "The Atlantic Ocean," he told the judge, "doesn't belong to any one, and I'll continue swimming at my convenience as far out as I like." Magistrate Holkstra ordered life guards to keep a sharp eye on Mr. Greenspan until his case could be disposed of. —New York Times.

This year the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co. of Canada Ltd. celebrates its Silver Jubilee—twenty-five years of steady progress and achievement. It was just twenty-five years ago that Allan Ross, President of Wrigley's in Canada, and Vice-president of the Wrigley Company in the United States, came to Toronto to found a business that has grown to one of the largest in the country. Allan Ross was then only 22, but he had the ability to work hard, a brilliant imagination, and the courage to grasp an opportunity when perceived. To-day Mr. Ross is still a young man at the head of a business that stretches from coast to coast, a company whose name has entered every home, and whose advertising has contacted every individual in the Dominion. The history of Wrigley's achievements in founding of the Marathon Swims at the Canadian National Exhibition, the invention of "radio amateur night," the offer to buy western wheat with all gum-dollars received, the establishment of unemployment hostels, and hundreds of other contributions to the people.

Mr. Ross says, "Without capable helpers, no business can succeed." He has followed that principle and has surrounded himself with unusually capable men. Highly efficient teamwork, possible only with the highest type helpers, has enabled Mr. Ross to build the Wrigley Company from a business whose yearly output would scarcely fill a room 10 x 10 x 10 feet, to a daily production of tons upon tons. Wrigley's gum is sold to the public through 75,000 retailers—three out of every five retailers in the Dominion.

"There is only one way," says Mr. Ross, "to make progress; it is to make it slowly." So far as I know there is only one way to develop oneself into valuable executive material. It is: start to learn by actual experience—which it will take years to get—the fundamentals of whatever game you tackle."

Invention Detects Gases

A Gold Snopper As Latest Aid For Miners

A gold snopper—"amies" its way—was put forward recently as the latest word for wealth seekers in the southwestern treasure belt of Weatherford, Okla.

The new "what-it" is from the hands of the hopeful Luciel Turner, a Custer country farmer, whose interest in hidden riches has turned him scientist. His new invention is designed to guide its master by "sniffing" the faintest gases given off by precious metals.

Such odors, mechanically harnessed, would be transformed into buzzes heard through ear phones worn by the searcher.

Soon Turner expects to seek out the Ghost Mound and the Devil's Canyon treasures, reputedly buried by the Spanish conquistadores.

Speaks To Students

Rudyard Kipling Talks To Canadian Graduates On Visit to England

Rudyard Kipling, visitor of Britain's celebrities, broke a vow about speechmaking to tell a group of Canadian boys and girls that "England is as much a possession of Canada as Canada is a possession of England."

Kipling had consented to face the audience of 84 graduates of Canadian secondary schools at St. Winifred's school, Eastbourne, on condition he need not make a speech. The Canadian boys and girls, visiting England for six weeks under the auspices of the Overseas Educational League, quite won his heart, however, and he did make a brief address.

New Announcement Card

German Doctor Notified Friends He Was In Prison

Announcement cards were issued recently informing the friends of Dr. Herbert Mueller-Guttenbrunn that he had been sentenced to prison for three and a half months and that during that period he would not be circulating among his favorite coffee houses. The doctor took the view that announcement cards were used for weddings, births, and such, so why not jail terms. He sent them to friends in Austria and abroad. He was convicted of "attempting publicity to degrade the Austrian regime."

Uses Canadian Wheat

The Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society is the largest flour miller in Scotland and has used in one year 29,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat. Its bakeries produce bread in which No. 1 Northern wheat is used to the extent of 98 per cent. According to Mr. McCormick, accountant of the Society, most of the buying is done at Winnipeg through the pools and linen companies.

Largest Diesel Motor

The world's largest Diesel marine motor has just been completed by the Italian "Fiat" company and will be installed on the Italian transatlantic steamship Vulcan. The motor is calculated to develop 16,000 horsepower, and in trials already has exceeded 15,000 horsepower.

Has Uncanny Powers

Man Who Produces Beetles From Air Puzzles Scientists

That he can produce beetles, birds, flowers, snakes and liquids from the air is the claim of Lajos Pap, a Hungarian carpenter, whose uncanny powers have puzzled doctors and scientists throughout Europe. He recently underwent a series of experiments at the International Institute for Physical Research, South Kensington, England. "When in a trance I can produce living and inanimate things," he said. "Many of the animals I have produced from the air are living in various museums in Budapest." Dr. Nandor Fodor, honorary research officer of the Institute, said he had seen Lajos Pap produce 32 live beetles from the air at a meeting in Budapest. "He had to be in a complete trance to do it. He produces the beetles by snatching at the air. Every precaution was taken to see that there was not the slightest possibility of the exhibit being a fake."

Seek Radium Substitute

Scientists Hope For Discovery Through Carrying Common Salt

Two scientists carried two bags of common table salt to the top of Mount Evans in the hope of making a discovery which may result in the replacement of costly radium in many medical treatments.

The scientists, Dr. J. C. Stearns, Denver University, and Dr. J. K. Froman, of McGill University, hope to induce radio-activity into the salt. They predicted before they left that if the experiment succeeds, salt treated in this fashion may take the place of radium in medicine.

"It was Adam who made all that fuss in the first place about asking for company. Women do not mind being perfectly happy alone."

4 cups (2 lbs.) berry juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
8 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 3 quarts fully ripe berries. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Squeeze and strain juice from 1 medium lemon. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire, and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 12 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

COCOANUT APRICOT JAM

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, add 3/4 cups water to about 1/2 pounds dried apricots, cover, and let stand 4 hours or overnight. Drain fruit, grind or chop fine, and mix with juice.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Add coconut, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard three minutes. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Skim; pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Birds can change the focus of their eyes instantly, becoming near-sighted and far-sighted at will.

Another thing that never turns out as expected is the car ahead.

As cute an assortment of cuddle toys as ever gladdened a child's heart! They're ridiculously easy to make, too, for each animal requires but two identical pieces of material, which you sew together and stuff with cotton. Of course, the chicken's wing, and bear's jacket are extra, made with just a scrap of contrasting material. What youngster would not love to own one or all of them! They're just the thing for that basket, too, or for a casual gift to the baby of the house. Gay calico, or other prints, cotton broadcloth, velveteen or satin, are possibilities. Then watch your young admirers gather around!

In pattern 5011 you will find a pattern of the four toys shown; detailed instructions and yardage requirements for making them.

Devotional reading: Psalm 96:1-10.

Explanations And Comments

A Consecrated Man Of Means, Acts 4:36, 37. One of the members of the early Christian Church of Jerusalem was a man named Barnabas, whose family had been natives of the island of Cyprus. In those days he who tithed gave to those who had not, without grudging, as Aristides wrote to the Emperor Hadrian. Barnabas was a very generous man. When he sold a field, he brought the whole sum and gave it to the apostles to spend for the poor.

A Broadminded Man, Acts 11:19-24. Many who were driven out of the church at Antioch, the persecution, at the time of Stephen's death (Acts 8) went northward beyond the Taurus into Phoenicia, Cilicia, and Syria. Some of these were located, and still farther to Antioch, the capital of Syria, the city which Paul first made his headquarters. These men preached only to the Jews. Others, however, men of Cyprus and Cilicia, and men who had lived in Greek areas and because of their cosmopolitan experience entertained fewer scruples about mixing with Gentiles than did the Jews of Palestine, when they came to Antioch preached to the Greeks, and Gentiles.

Little Journeys In Science

WOOD FLOUR

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Products of the forest have always been of great use to man but in recent years the uses of wood have multiplied many times over, in the form of a very fine powder, known as wood flour.

The pulp and paper industry has been a large consumer of wood flour. It is used chiefly in the inkless type and also in smaller quantities mixed with cork flour in the production of the battisheet and printed types.

In the manufacture of explosives, wood flour has its greatest usefulness as a constituent of dynamite. The sensitiveness of liquid nitroglycerine, which is the explosive material in dynamite, is greatly reduced when diluted with some powdered substance such as wood flour.

The phenol resins, when used with wood flour as a filler, may be moulded into many useful and every-day articles. These include such things as telephone, radio and automobile parts and electrical equipment.

Leo Baekeland, the scientist who did a great deal of the earlier work which led to this almost infinitely plastic material, the phenol resins. For this purpose, the finest grades of wood flour are required. The wood flour, after being thoroughly cleaned, is produced by colouring matter and other substances, produces a plastic mass. When the plastic mass is dried it is ground to a fine powder and moulded under pressure and heat. Wood flour is used with many different binding materials to produce picture-frames, bowling balls, furniture parts, records and dolls.

Among the various uses of wood flour not mentioned in detail might be included composition flooring, drying and polishing animal hides, and metal products for cleaning, and in hand soaps.

Wool Imports

Largest Amount Used In Canada Comes From New Zealand

Canada is a heavy importer of wool for her textile manufacturers, and the largest amount of wool imported comes from New Zealand, which makes our blankets, rugs and a wide range of necessities. Most of that wool is from the fleece of the sheep and the two great sheep countries of the Empire are Australia and New Zealand. In fact, the Antipodes is the largest sheep emporium of the world.

Last year we imported 15 million pounds of raw wool, that is, sheep wool. We got about seven million, or nearly half of the total, from New Zealand, close to six million from the United Kingdom, and over three million from Australia. Besides this, we got 11 million pounds of wools and worsted tops mainly from the United Kingdom. No doubt, however, most of the wool imported from Great Britain came originally from other Empire countries, such as the two mentioned, as well as India, British South Africa and the Irish Free State.

It is surprising to find that most of our wool comes from New Zealand rather than from Australia, for although New Zealand has great flocks of sheep totalling over 30 million head, Australia, the greatest sheep country in the world, has four times that number.

Canada is by no means a sheep country, with only about 3 1/2 million head so the chances are overwhelming that the cloth we wear is made of wool that came from the other side of the world.

Pitchblende From North

Winter Shipments Of Ore To Be Sent Out By Aeroplane

Eighty tons of concentrated pitchblende ore from the Eldorado Gold Mine's property at Lahine Point, Great Bear Lake, arrived at Fort Fitzgerald, Alta., by portage recently.

The cargo, valued at $750,000, was shipped south on the river steamer "Northern Prospector." Full precautions to safeguard the radium-bearing ore are being taken. It was transferred to the "Mabel D & C" and carried to Waterways and shipped by train to the Fort Hope, Ont., railway of the Eldorado company.

This winter further shipments will be made by aeroplane, Gilbert Lahine, president of the company, revealed in Edmonton recently.

Nigerian Native Left Nothing Out On Application Form

A commanding officer has received an amusing application from a native of Nigeria anxious to exchange railway for military service. "I am a man," wrote the applicant, "of approximately age of 25 years old and now to the maturity of performing my duties, bravely, diligently, obediently, honestly, piously, and fidelity as a soldier; and to fight for my country and king. . . . I can pass medical examination as easily as pepper soup, as I am quite sure of my being well both in health and physique. . . . Don't miss a man like me."

Held Feast At Border

German And Polish Wedding Guests Watched By Guards

Forbidden to cross the border to attend a wedding in the Polish village of Sarneggen, close to the German frontier, German friends suggested the feast be held at the boundary line. The guests assembled and toasted the bride pair from a table one end of which was in Poland and the other in Germany. The merry-makers enjoyed themselves for hours under the watchful eyes of the frontier guards.

Value Of Parasites

Striking Testimony Of Their Usefulness Comes From Australia

The use of parasites in cradicating insects pests on unwanted plant life is spreading and even Canada now possesses its entomological laboratory where imported insects are bred to prey upon others with destructive instincts.

Striking testimony to the value of parasites comes from Australia where in a misguided moment some one introduced a single plant of prickly pear in the year 1840. Before 1930 there were 60,000,000 acres of Australian soil covered by prickly pear. All sorts of measures to stop its spread were tried and failed. Recently, however, a little insect known as Cactophilus Cactorum has been introduced. This feeds upon the pear and destroys it, but harms nothing else. The insect is doing what man could not do and within four or five years of its introduction eight and one-half million acres of infested land have been reclaimed.

Having made such a fine job of eradicating the prickly pear, Australians will probably pray for the arrival of some parasite to do likewise with that other national pest, the rabbit.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-bred, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. They are met at the railway station by Columbine Nelson, who in turn introduces Mark and Adams, two neighbors of Aunt Columbine, and the party set out for Pine Ridge, which village causes dismay to both Nancy and Jack because of its dilapidated appearance and general look of poverty. Nancy and Jack are shown to the rooms they are to occupy, and both the young people consider the furniture and decorations hateful and, contrasting the present quarters with their luxurious home in Boston, wonder if they can endure the change for any length of time. Aunt Columbine tells why she wrote the letter to them, and relates some of her early experiences at Pine Ridge where the Indians and forest fires, of her father's hunt for gold, and of her mother's splendid spirit, but for a body, which could not endure the strain of pioneer life.

Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill, so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora had told her to follow. She took a wrong course along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adams tells Nancy that her brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help and while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack Adams, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Now Go On With The Story

The early winter darkness had fallen when they returned. Nancy had had a "wonderful day." She had lunched at a delightful tea room, done her own Christmas errands, Aurora's, Cousin Columbine's, and even Matthew Adams'. For whom she met her cousin at the appointed time, the young man confessed that he had delayed his own holiday shopping in order to profit by her advice. Would Dot Meredith, the cousin who was in college at Denver and was to spend her vacation at the ranch, approve of silk stockings as a gift? And what size must she get? What color? Darned if he knew! And would Nancy look at a luncheon set he wanted for his mother, and see if it were really any good?

So Nancy stored her parcels in the old car, and fared forth again in the time with Matthew. But it was all fun, and after weeks of comparative solitude in Pine Ridge, the Christmas crowds seemed thrilling. Their errands accomplished, Matt took her to a place where they had hot chocolate and delicious sandwiches; and on the way home he drove with exceeding slowness, even after the dangerous pass was left behind.

The stars were out when they bumped the railroad track and started up the straggling familiar street. Dusk hid its shabbiness, and Nancy turned as she always did, for that gloomish view of the white-crested Peak.

"Well, we're home," she said, and added, laughing: "That sounds exactly like Aurora, doesn't it? I've had a great time, Matt, and I do appreciate your letting me tag along. If your cousin's stockings don't turn out the right size, the saleswoman said they could be changed. I know your mother will love the linen—one you would; and—Will you look at that!" They were approaching the Nelson "mansion" now. "There's a light in the parlor! Is the president, or governor or some one calling on Cousin Columbine? Why? (as they turned in the gate), "there are lights everywhere! What can be happening?"

She looked up, at Matthew this time. There was, Nancy saw, an inscrutable, smile curving his nice mouth, but all he said was: "Let's go in and see."

CHAPTER XIV.

Nancy was never to forget the moments that followed. As Matthew drew up before the house he blew three sharp blasts on the automobile horn, and said: "Don't bother with all those bundles, Nancy. I'll lug 'em in in just a minute." Indeed, Nancy was so puzzled by the amazing illumination that she failed to see that they were stopping at the seldom-used front door; and, still dazed, but with Matt's hand on her elbow, she was firmly propelled into what Jack called "the sacred parlor."

For a moment she just stood still, thinking the room was full of people until she realized that it wasn't a crowd at all, only the parlor, beautifully garlanded with Christmas greens, looked different. A second glance, and she saw the company. Cousin Columbine in her scarlet middy and laced boots; a little woman with soft brown hair, and eyes shining with merriment, who must be "Eve Adams." By her side stood the tall, lean sunburned man who was her husband, looking, it seemed to Nancy, very little older than his own. Then came Juanita Tubbs—Juanita in a sleeveless gown of such dazzling, variegated colors that Nancy almost blinked when she looked straight at it and was thankful that Mary Taylor was wearing white. Mark, dressed up in his "Cousin's best," thought Nancy towered between Mary and a slender girl in blue ("The cousin from Denver"); while Jack, slick and span in his blue serge suit, and another boy ("The last of the Apostles, of course") stood just behind them; and as a climax came Aurora, attired in a gown of emerald tulle with six fountains on the skirt and the inevitable apron tied snugly around her ample waistline.

No wonder Nancy stared! She stared so long that everybody shouted with laughter; and it was Cousin Columbine who explained: "It's only Nancy, but, child, don't look so dazed!"

"Your debut, staged in a different setting," smiled Eve Adams, and coming forward kissed Nancy on the cheek. "Welcome to Pine Ridge society, my dear! I really think we gave you a surprise."

"And if she don't run straight up stairs and put on that party dress I took out of her closet," spoke up Aurora, "my company dinner'll be in ruins. Matthew Adams, you'll find your good clothes in Miss Columbine's bedroom, and don't be slow or cold tomorrow, either."

"Did you know this all the time?" cried Nancy, wheeling on Matthew.

"I-I sort of suspected it," he confessed. "I mean—"

"Oh, come on, Matt," broke in his brother Mark impatiently. "Time flies; and you've got to be thirty-five in honor of our debutante!"

"And will you believe it?" Nancy wrote home next day, "when I came down, there stood Matthew Adams looking absolutely stunning in a well-cut tux! I almost passed out at sight of him."

Probably Matthew felt somewhat the same at the same moment, for Nancy herself, in orchid chiffon, and silver-shad, was (according to Mark Adams) "too easy to look at for any fellow's peace of mind."

"You'll have to seat her next to Matthew, Miss Columbine," he said ruefully. "She makes the rest of us look like black cowboys. I'd have sworn that Tux myself, Matt, if it was between two sizes bigger. It's the only tuxedo in Pine Ridge, Nancy—a relic of campus days which transforms my cowardly brother into a 'glorious Apollo,' as you can see for yourself. And—"

"Shut up!" commanded Matthew, blushing, while his mother slipped a protecting arm through his, and Aurora announced shrilly: "Come on! Get seated while I dish up the potato. Sakes alive, Nancy, you look like those pictures in the love magazines. And you too, Matthew Adams. That white shirt's awful becoming. Everything's ready and all those peppy candles lighted. Come on in!"

"I never saw a prettier table," wrote Nancy to her mother. "Even that awful green-brown china was inconspicuous, because it blended with the green-bronze leaves of the kin-kinnick with which Mrs. Adams had decorated everything. It's the most graceful table, with red berries like the partridge berries we have at home. There was a big brass bowl of fruit in the centre of the table, and long sprays laid at intervals on the white cloth—a cloth bought in Denver in 1901, please understand, and used only on state occasions!"

"The terrible lamp was banished, and four tall brass candlesticks held red candles while a big red candle stood at every place. Even Cousin Columbine's scarlet middy seemed made for the occasion. She looked very distinguished at the head of the table; and they put me at the foot with 'Father Adams' on one side, and Mark (despite protests regarding his apparel) on the other."

"And did we eat? As Jack remarked, Aurora had 'done her darndest,' and the old-fashioned Christmas dinner was superb. Once it struck me as funny that Juanita was among the guests while her mother waited on us; but Cousin Columbine says that Aurora would never have recovered if her daughter had been left out. Mr. Adams made place cards; and the minute I saw his beautiful lettering I knew who was going to plant the sign for my Aladdin Library! But to get back to the debut."

On account of this party grew into the longest letter that Nancy Nelson had ever written, which ended with a request to forward it to Aunt Judy. " . . . for I can never write all this again. I wonder what those wild spring girls will think of me. Mother! Not much like what we planned, was it? But believe me, it was a grand party just the same."

It is probable that all those present agreed with the girl. When at last they arose from the table and sought the gaily-feasted parlor, each one added his bit to the entertainment. The waltzes, dances, old-time songs with melodious accompaniment (a melodeon brought from Chicago in 1881, Miss Columbine assured them proudly); as well as strictly modern "croonings" rendered by Mark; while Matthew left Nancy breathless for the second time that evening when, with the same old "Juanita's lam o' shanter and a plaid scarf," he was transformed into a very creditable Harry Lauder, and forgetting his shyness, sang "I Love a Lassie" in a delightful baritone.

Not until then did Aurora remove her apron.

"I'm going to recite 'Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night,'" she told the company. "I said that place at a church social when Tubbs was courting me, and there wasn't a dry eye in the place when I got through."

This number brought such a deafening round of applause that the good woman beamed with pleasure.

"It's your turn now, Miss Columbine," she said. "You tell us a story about old times to calm us down."

Cousin Columbine smiled as Matt drew her chair in the centre of the group.

"I'm going to tell you about my first Christmas tree," she began. "I couldn't have been more than three or four years old, and Mother and I were alone as we so often were in those days when Father was off adventuring. We were expecting him home, of course; but on Christmas Eve when he did not come, Mother went out and cut a tiny Christmas tree herself, and set it up in the corner of our room."

"I realize now that for months, possibly longer, she had been saving every bright scrap of ribbon, or calico, or paper that came her way—saving them to make a merry Christmas for her baby; and after I was born, she must have spent those lonely hours trying to make the little fir tree gay and pretty, while she listened tensely for Father's returning step and the longed-for whistle (it was, she told me, like the song of the hermit thrushes in New Hampshire), with which he always heralded his arrival.

"Well, no whistle came that night, and at last, bitterly disappointed, fearful for his safety as she always was at any untoward delay, my mother crept into the big bed and dropped asleep. No doubt her pillow was wet with tears; but things looked brighter in the morning. It was a beautiful day. A flurry of snow had fallen in the night. Every bush and tree was white and frosted, which made her think of Christmases in old New England; and I, of course, was twittering with excitement. She could scarcely persuade me to eat breakfast I was so eager to examine every ornament and open the two parcels tied to the topmost branch of my small tree."

"At last she pushed aside our soiled dishes. 'This morning they could wait, for after all, Christmas comes but once a year. She drew a chair close to the little tree; took me on her lap and put into my hands one of the gifts she had prepared so lovingly. You see, she had contrived twin dolls out of homemade clothespins—painted their faces very cleverly, and dressed them in scarlet flannel from an old petticoat, wrapping them separately so that I would have more to open."

For a moment Miss Columbine sat silent at the thought; then she went on: "I do not, of course, remember every detail of this story; but it was told so often that the scene rises before me very clearly. I was so enthralled with my doll that I forgot to be curious about the other packages; and as I sat there on my mother's knee, caressing this new baby, something, possibly the sense of being watched, drew her eyes away from me for a moment, and at what she saw her poor heart almost stopped beating. For there was a face at the window, peering in at us—the face of an Indian!"

"My soul!" breathed Aurora in an awed whisper; and as if not hearing her, Miss Columbine continued: "Perhaps you young folks can't realize what that meant to a pioneer woman alone in her cabin save for a little child. Instinctively, her glance rose to the rifle lying ready for use on a shelf behind the stove, then fell to the fire tree: that emblem of 'Peace on earth, goodwill to men'; and just as the door latch rattled ominously, she came to a decision. Altar Brought From France

Hidden in Woods When English Captured French Fort

In the Church of the Sacred Heart at Red Islands, a few miles from Sydney, Nova Scotia, is a storied altar that was brought from France in 1691. It was placed in the French fort at St. Peter, or Port Toulouse as it was then called. When the English captured the fort the altar was carried off by the French to the woods, where it was hidden.

Later it was found by the Indians, who jealously guarded it until a priest stationed at Red Island finally persuaded them to allow him to remove it to the Roman Catholic church.

Quality in Binder Twine

Inspection in Recent Years Has Shown Steady Improvement

"The binder twine being used to harvest Canada's grain crop comes from a number of sources. Canadian-made twine supplies a large part of the domestic demand and considerable quantities made in the Dominion are exported to other countries, but, binder twine from several other countries has come to share the Canadian market. The greater part of the importations into Canada are from Great Britain, Ireland and Holland and in recent years small quantities have also been received from Belgium and Germany."

The law requires that each ball of binder twine sold in Canada shall bear a label stating the number of feet of twine per pound in the ball, whether 500, 550, 600 or 650 feet. This is a case where quantity is the estimate of quality. Inspectors of the Dominion Department of Agriculture Seed Branch inspect Canadian-made twine at the places of manufacture or import and twine at storage warehouses, and by a system of measurement and calculation determine the actual number of feet per pound as compared with the length guaranteed.

Results of binder twine inspection in recent years have shown a steady improvement in both Canadian and imported twine used in Canada. More than three hundred samples were taken of the twine distributed in Canada in 1934, the tests of which showed that 47 per cent. had actually more twine to the pound than was guaranteed and 14 per cent. had exactly the length guaranteed. The remainder of the samples had some shortage which was inconsiderable in most cases and only 2.5 per cent. had a shortage of over 5 per cent., which is the limit of shortage allowed by law.

Tensile strength in binder twine is not subject to legal control. Inspectors, however, give some attention to this factor but it is now seldom that a sample is found in which the tensile strength is too weak for ordinary grain binding.

Find Ancient Fossil

May Have Ruined Seas Thirty Million Years Ago

A large fossil found in lower cretaceous formations on the west coast of Vancouver Island may be part of an Ichthyosaurus that roamed the seas some 30,000,000 years ago, in the opinion of Professor M. F. Bancroft, head of the geological survey party which salvaged the fossil.

The fossil was found encased in rocks in front of the home of G. F. Smith, who said the waves had laid it bare some time within the last two years. Rev. Anthony Terhaar of Friendly Cove, B.C., assisted Professor Bancroft in recovering the fossil.

Another Modern Step

Tahiti Is Waiting For Opening Of Beauty Parlor

Natives of Papeete, Tahiti, are awaiting civilization's final conquest. In a steady procession have come automobiles, electric lights, filling stations, radios, electric refrigerators, telephones and movies. But it was only recently that ground was broken for a beauty parlor. Already a few girls have crimson finger and toe nails, plucked eyebrows, mascaraed eyelashes and permanent waves, much to the consternation of the native fathers.

Science has been able to create an electric spark that, during its brief life of one one-hundredth-thousandth of a second, is brighter than the sun.

"We never hear our own voices exactly as other people hear them," states a scientist. Probably that explains why so many of us sing.

Missionaries Use 'Plane

Only Way To Reach Tribes In New Guinea

The first air-missionaries of the Church of England are starting work in New Guinea.

They are going to tackle one of the most difficult and dangerous jobs imaginable, that of taking the Gospel to 40,000 tribesmen living in virgin and mountainous country to which the air affords the only access and where the natives are very wild.

Six white men, with a staff of native teachers, will undertake the work, which, it is estimated, will cost $25,000 to establish and $10,000 a year to maintain. Their base will be at the Wau Goldfields, now rapidly developing, and all supplies will come up by air from the coast.

A monoplane made a forced landing at Cone Island, New York, recently, in so small a space it had to be dismantled for removal. The ship, experiencing motor trouble, circled Manhattan Beach before it alighted safely to earth, sitting snugly in a chink in a block of 2,000 parked automobiles.
